The Cold Friday.— This well known appelation was bestowed on Friday January 19th 1810.— The cold of that day compared with many during the present winter was not greater. In Portsmouth N.H. cold Friday 12° below Zero In New York on Cold Friday, the glass was 18° below Zero. One thing is to be noticed about the cold Friday the glass instead of rising after sunris continued to fall

Providence is one of the coldest points on the cost. On Tuesday the 22d inst., (if we are right) the glass stood at 7 A.M. at 12° below Zero at a place a mile out of town at 23° below Zero.

Cold at the South.— In Nashville Tenn. on Monday 26th the mercury was 6° below Zero. The Pee Dee Herald of the 20th Jan. says the glass was at 8° to 20° for three days previous; the rivers was frozen over. At Louisville Jan. 23d the glass indicated 4° below Zero. the Ohio was nearly closed at that point. At Charleston S.C. (Same date) even the ink used on the Editorials of the Courier froze up. At Weldon N.C., the Snow was 17 inches deep on a level, on Jan. 20th. At Augusta Ga., on the 22 Jan., the Savannah rive was filled with floating ice. We believe this to be the most severe cold rated at the South during the present century.
